RACHEL K. LOZOSKY, ESQ.

Peacock Keller LLP, Washington, PA

2022 PSBSA President

Rachel K. Lozosky is a partner with the firm of Peacock Keller, LLP. She is passionate about educating, counseling and advocating for her clients. Hailing from a family of educators and having grown up as the daughter of a school superintendent, her personal appreciation of the challenges and rewards of work in the Pennsylvania public school system has greatly benefited her clients in her work for over a decade as a school solicitor. Lozosky is experienced in the broad range of issues involved in representing school districts, including special education, student discipline, and compliance with Pennsylvania's Sunshine Act and Right-to-Know Law. She is well-versed in the laws governing personnel actions, an expertise that she also brings to bear in her employment law practice. Lozosky is experienced in representing small, mid-size and large employers in both the for-profit and nonprofit sectors as well as individual employees. While Lozosky works hard to keep her clients out of litigation, should a controversy arise, she is experienced in successfully advocating on their behalf. She is particularly well-versed in defending public school districts in the complex area of special education due process litigation as well as representing clients in proceedings before the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission. Her knowledge, experience and relatable style make her a sought-after and frequent speaker on an extensive array of employment and school law topics.

KENNETH A. ROOS, ESQ.

Wisler Pearlstine LLP, Blue Bell, PA

Kenneth A. Roos is known throughout the state for his expertise in education law. Having provided legal counsel to multiple school districts for more than 25 years and as a veteran of well over 2,000 public school board meetings, there are few education law issues Roos has not confronted and handled in his career. Currently, he serves as the solicitor for several public school districts in southeastern Pennsylvania and provides legal advice and representation to numerous other public school districts and other educational and governmental entities. He regularly is asked to create or revise policies and provide advice to school district clients regarding the myriad of legal issues facing public school districts, such as board governance, district operations, regulatory compliance, naming rights and advertising, and daily student and staff issues. Roos is a past president (2006) of the Pennsylvania School Board Solicitors Association and is a frequent speaker at educational law seminars throughout the state. For 15 consecutive years, he has been selected to the Pennsylvania "Super Lawyers" list. A graduate of the University of Pittsburgh School of Law, Roos is former chair of the Ambler Area YMCA Board of Directors and current president of the Ambler Theater Board of Directors.
